

Seated Leg Press

The Nautilus Impact Seated Leg Press builds foundational lower body strength by engaging the glutes, hamstrings, and quadriceps through a natural pressing motion. Its wide foot platform also allows users to perform seated calf raises, adding versatility to leg day routines. The seated position reduces back strain, making it ideal for all fitness levels. With a biomechanically optimized strength curve and a true 1:1 weight ratio, this machine delivers smooth, consistent resistance. Lock N Load® technology and a compact footprint make it a space-efficient choice for lower body training zones.
